Henley fires town clerk Merton Brown

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel town clerk Merton Brown was fired Monday afternoon by Town Manager Madeleine Henley and by Tuesday morning a petition was being circulated in town calling for the posts Brown had held to be changed from appointed to elected positions.

The precise reason or reasons for Brown's termination are still known only to him, Henley and their attorneys.

Brown told The Citizen Henley had presented him with a seven page memo laying out the reasons why he was being fired. Much of the memo, as he described it, dealt with his recent shoplifting conviction in New Hampshire.

But he declined to release a copy of the memo. Henley, citing the legal confidentiality of personnel matters, has also declined to produce a copy of the memo, or even to acknowledge that Brown has been fired.

Late development: Tuesday afternoon a petition calling for voters to elect Bethel's town clerk was presented at the Town Office. The petition appeared to have more than the required number (126) of signatures.

(The Citizen made a formal request Monday evening for the memo, under the provisions of Maine's Freedom of Access Law. After speaking with the town lawyer, Henley verbally turned down the request. The Citizen will continue to pursue the matter.)

Brown has five working days (until Feb. 5) to appeal Henley's decision to the Board of Selectmen.

He said Tuesday afternooon that he had not decided whether to make such an appeal.

Petition launched

The positions Brown held -- town clerk, deputy tax collector and treasurer -- are currently appointed by the town manager.

On Tuesday morning Brown supporters had launched a petition calling for the positions to be elected. By Tuesday afternoon the petition appeared to have more than the required number (126) of signatures.

Charles Gill gets 3 years, 4 months on federal charges

Charles Gill, Jr., who posed as a licensed psychologist at the Bethel Area Health Center, was sentenced Tuesday to three years and four months in prison in U.S. District Court.

Gill, 59, was also sentenced to three years of supervised release following the prison term.

Gill pled guilty last year to mail and wire fraud and to making false claims to Medicare and Medicaid. He also pled guilty to using a passport he obtained by means of a false statement.

Gill also faces state charges on 16 counts of unlawful practice of psychology, and one count of theft by deception. Proceedings on those charges were put on hold pending the federal sentencing, assistant District Attorney Joseph O'Connor said earlier.

SWEPT AWAY
The past week's waffling weather patterns made for woeful driving conditions. Rain-swollen, ice-jammed streams and rivers overflowed their banks, forcing the intermittent closing of routes 2, 26, 232, and 5, as well as numerous smaller roads. Here a Chevrolet Blazer owned by Rick Dow of Bethel awaits rescue after being washed off the Flat Road Sunday morning. Dow, 43, made his own way to dry land following this mishap, but a similar accident the day before, off Route 2 by Bog Brook, left Linda Mason, 25, of Bethel stranded on the roof of her flooded vehicle. Passers-by and emergency service volunteers eventually passed her a rope and pulled her to safety.
Back on the hardtop things weren't all that much better, as icy conditions were blamed for a number of accidents, but fortunately only one serious injury (see photo, page 2).

CITIZEN PART OF 'COVER UP'?

To the Editor:

I am amazed at the Bethel Citizen's handling of Bethel Town Clerk Merton Brown's suspension and the shoplifting conviction that seems to have played a role in it. I hardly know where to start.

The Jan. 24 editorial makes a case for reinstatement which is ethically and logically flawed. In paragraph two, the writer presumes to outline a "worst view of the situation." A key element is the presumption that filching a $2.19 battery was done on "dumb impulse." That's not the worst view, by any means. Shoplifting begs the question: Is this an isolated and impulsive act or merely the visible part of a larger and darker pattern?

A good journalist has an instinct for when such questions need to be asked. He or she rises to the challenge of these questions, develops leads and pursues them. The editorial asks its readers to urge reinstatement without answers to such questions. We need the kind of information an aroused and curious journalist can provide and needs to be searching for.

But, instead, readers are casually led to accept the "dumb impulse" presumption as a foundation. The writer quickly leads them on to a presentation of reasons why they should support reinstatement. These reasons can only be summed up as a recitation of the situational ethics' battlecry: Everybody does it. It really doesn't matter! Wrong on both counts.

Ask bank tellers what a shoplifting conviction is going to do to their career track. Check with insurance companies that bond operations, public and private, entrusted with investment capital or tax monies. I wonder how I would fare as a teacher so convicted: what do parents think as they send their kids off to school with lunch money or book orders to hand over to me. No: not everybody does it and it does matter, especially when the job in question involves such obvious temptations to anyone without a strong grasp on his or her integrity. Yes! It, precisely, does matter.

Merton Brown has been convicted in public court of petty theft. He handles public monies and sensitive tax accounts. When you go in to the town office to hand cash over to your town clerk, how confident do you want to be of his honesty? How confident do you want to be?

Restoring confidence in a reinstated town clerk should be accompanied by close examination of a town manager's complaints in the light of all possible information and evidence. Anything short of that is not fair.

[illegible] the editorial's description of the same town's front page [illegible] Mr. Brown's pocket. Those more questions, [illegible] the paper's staff doesn't seem to ask.

Taxpayers discuss school budget

BETHEL--A group of citizens representing the towns of SAD44 met Thursday evening, Jan. 25 at the Bethel Town Office to discuss the upcoming SAD44 school budget and the new referendum voting process. The group will recommend to the School Board, SAD44 administration, and the town selectmen that the gross assessment for the five towns remain the same as FY'96. The group will be working to increase the awareness and understanding of the voters of the school budget and the referendum process. Chairperson of the group, Pat Dooen of Bethel, encourages all interested citizens to attend the group's next meeting scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Greenwood Town Office.

U.S. Court to hear police bias suit

BETHEL--A sexual harassment and discrimination lawsuit filed by former policewoman Anne Bertram has been scheduled for the July term of U.S. District Court in Portland. The case was taken to federal court after efforts at conciliation through the Human Rights Commission failed. She was hired in Sept. 1992. In December she complained to town manager Madeleine Henley, claiming unequal treatment by police chief Dale Bellman, according to her attorney, Brenda Buchanan of Portland. Bertram seeks an injunction to return to Bethel as a police officer, and payment of back pay. She also seeks a declaration from the town that discrimination did take place, and asks for civil penalties and whatever compensatory damages the court thinks are available, Buchanan said. Bellman, Henley, and the Town of Bethel are named in the suit. Bertram was fired in 1993.

Night skiing at Mt. Abram?

LOCKE MILLS--Rick Hoddinott, owner of Ski Mt. Abram, said the ski area is considering offering night skiing at some time in the future. But he emphasized the idea is in the early stages of discussion, and is only one of many ideas being considered. "We are looking at it. We want to maximize our potential, and that's one of the ways we might do it," said Hoddinott.

County turns down plowing request

ALBANY--The Oxford County Commissioners have decided against maintaining an eighth-mile stretch of the North Songo Pond Road leading to Scott and Robin Mills' house. The Mills had requested the county plow and maintain it to provide optimum access because their three-year-old son has a serious medical condition. The road is considered by the commissioners to be abandoned. County administrative assistant Carol Mahoney said the commissioners felt it would be too costly to do ditching, lay down gravel, etc., in order to bring the road up to standards. The Mills are now considering three options -- hiring an attorney to try to get the decision reversed, pay themselves to have the road upgraded, or see if there is enough interest in Albany to become an organized township, thereby taking the road out of the county's hands.

U.S.S. Oklahoma relatives sought

CASA GRANDE, Ariz.--Survivors of the U.S.S. Oklahoma, sunk at Pearl Harbor in 1941, are trying to locate relatives of Oklahoma sailors who died in the Japanese attack. The survivors plan to erect a monument to their shipmates, and want to invite relatives to the dedication. The group is asking for any relatives of Stanley W. Allen of Bethel, one of those killed, to contact Paul Goodyear, 1138 Ave. of Cotton, Casa Grande, AZ 85222. Allen is believed to have no relatives in the Bethel area, according to Dr. Stanley Howe of the Bethel Historical Society.

Cost analysis of withdrawal proposed

ANDOVER--Andover residents will be asked at their March 2 Town Meeting whether they want to pay for a cost analysis of leaving SAD44. The article was proposed by Brian Mills. He hopes a study will settle a discussion that has been going on for years regarding the price tag of other educational options for the town. "There's no way to know until you do it (a study)," he said. SAD44 school director Kelly Scotti of Andover thinks it would be valuable to have the information from a cost analysis. But she said at this point, she is dubious that withdrawal would be feasible, "based on what I imagine the cost would be," she said. From the educational standpoint, Scotti thinks Andover students get a good deal in SAD44. She said she would worry about where high school students would be educated, and the possible high price of contracted education for special education students.

Pew wants better process

ANDOVER--Resident Sid Pew, who has been questioning selectmen's handling of finances in connection with the town's transfer station, said he just wants someone to take responsibility for actions taken and follow the correct procedure in the future. Pew claims that a $57,000 landfill closure reimbursement from the state should have gone into the town's general fund rather than the transfer station account. He also said selectmen failed to solicit bids for equipment purchased for the station. "I'm not dissatisfied with what happened at the dump -- I'm dissatisfied with the process," he said. Selectman Joe Madigan declined to discuss details of the issues, saying they may be taken up at the March 2 Town Meeting.

Bennett not running for Congress

OXFORD--Former state Rep. Rick Bennett will not be a candidate for Maine's second Congressional District seat, now held by John Baldacci (D-Bangor). In a statement released last week, Bennett said that although many people in western Maine have encouraged him to try again for the seat, he prefers to be in Maine rather than in Washington. He cited his desire to spend time with his family and continue his career and education in business as other reasons not to run. Bennett does, however, plan to announce his candidacy in the near future for the District 25 seat in the Maine Senate, now held by Dana Hanley. Hanley, of South Paris, does not plan to run again.

Greens submit clear-cutting petition

AUGUSTA--The Maine Green Party met their deadline Monday to submit petitions calling for a statewide referendum on whether forest clear-cuts should be banned. Leaders said they turned in 55,264 signatures, well over the 51,131 needed to force the vote in November. The signatures will be reviewed by election officials. New rules proposed by the Greens for logging would apply only in the 10.5-million acre jurisdiction of the Land Use Regulation Commission.

RESTORE condemns WMNF logging

CONCORD, Mass.--The regional conservation organization, RESTORE: The North Woods, is opposing a proposed logging operation in the White Mountain National Forest. A press release from RESTORE claims the project would degrade wilderness values, damage wildlife habitat, threaten a rare old-growth forest tract, and result in a significant loss of taxpayer money. RESTORE said the logging would devastate the wild area around Kearsarge Mountain in the towns of Bartlett, Chatham and Jackson, N.H. The proposal would strip 6.8 million board-feet of timber from a 4,700-acre area. The area was proposed for wilderness designation during the 1970s and includes a rare, 100-acre grove of old-growth hemlock and northern hardwoods.

Injured skier dies of exposure

MARYSVILLE, Mont.--A 51-year-old man skiing at night at the Great Divide Ski Area northwest of Helena hit a tree and then lay in the snow in sub-zero temperatures overnight, dying of exposure, officials said last week. The accident happened while the man was night-skiing, but the body wasn't found until the next morning when the ski area reopened. Sheriff Chuck O'Reilly said tracks in the snow showed where the man had come down a ski run and hit a tree "at a pretty good clip." The man was an employee of Great Divide but was not on duty when he crashed. The man's name was not released pending notification of relatives.

Gill

From February to November 1994, Gill was employed at the Bethel Area Health Center as director of the Human Services Division. Gill also owned and operated The Counseling Center in Fryeburg from 1993 to 1994.

In both positions, the government charged, Gill falsely represented to patients, insurance companies, Medicare and Medicaid, and others that he had a doctoral degree in psychology and that he was a licensed psychologist in the State of Maine.

In fact, Gill was not licensed in Maine, or in any other state, to provide psychological or counseling services. Neither had he earned a doctoral degree in the field of psychology.

Gill fraudulently submitted, or caused to be submitted, claims for reimbursement of his services. He deposited insurance provider checks, as well as private patient checks, into his personal accounts. As a result of the scheme, Gill obtained approximately $27,108.99 from insurance companies and approximately $16,372.50 from private patients.

In May last year, Bethel Area Health Center completed a U.S. Department of Justice Immigration & Naturalization Service employment eligibility form for Gill. At that time Gill presented a passport with a false place of birth as proof of his identity and employment eligibility to the Bethel Area Health Center. The passport showed he was born in Switzerland, when in fact he was born in Ohio.

United States attorney Jay P. McCloskey credited the thorough cooperative investigation of the matter by the U.S. Postal Service, the U.S. State Department, and the Maine Department of Attorney General.

FROM THE

Bethel Bicentennial Committee

By JIM ROSE

Due to the holiday season, the deadlines for the fundraising raffles have been permanently moved from the 15th of each month to the end of each month. At this printing, the raffle for Preb's will be concluded and the raffle for a gift certificate at Ruthie's will begin.

Progress continues on the commemorative bicentennial coins, and as more developments become available they will be posted in this column.

The Education Exhibit has been moved to the Mason Meeting Room and the Transportation and Mail Exhibit continues at Bethel Station, but, planning for the Retail/Commercial exhibit is underway to replace the latter. Farm Life in Winter is also planned for February as a limited-time event and would include topics such as ice harvesting, logging, industry, and homemaking.

The Civil War Encampment weekend of June 15 and 16 is beginning to take form. At present, affirmative responses to invitation have been received from the 4th Maine Infantry, the 5th Massachusetts Battery, and the Regimental Chaplain of the 3rd Maine Infrantry. A wide variety of Union and Confederate infantry, artillery and specialty units have been invited and responses are beginning to trickle in.

A reminder that bicentennial T-shirts, sweatshirts and calendars are for sale at Preb's, Ruthie's, and the Bethel Historical Society and that all proceeds go toward financing becentennial events.

The next bicentennial committee meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 7 p.m. at the home of Stanley Howe, and all are invited to attend.

From the Bethel Police log:

Bus batteries "fried"

On Jan. 25 at 9:43 p.m. the director of transportation for the Sunday River Express ski train reported someone had turned the battery switches on four of the buses, resulting in dead batteries and two "fried" batteries. Police were asked to add an extra patrol when available. Damage: $275 to each of the two batteries.

Wednesday, Jan. 24

At 7:35 a.m. a Chandler Hill Road resident reported being harassed by two subjects. The harassment was believed to have stemmed from damages that happened to a snowmobile being towed by the subjects. Police planned to serve harassment papers on the party.

Thursday, Jan. 25

At 3 p.m. a caller reported that a vehicle had passed several others while traveling north on Route 26. The vehicle continued and passed several more vehicles while rounding the corner at the intersection to P.H. Chadbourne Co. The caller said the vehicle had a male driver. The car was later seen by the complainant at Sunday River Ski Resort and was believed to belong to a lift operator.

At 7:04 p.m. a caller wanted it placed on file that someone had removed a pair of skis from the lobby of the Angry Dog Pub sometime before closing on Jan. 24. The skis were Atomic 225 racing skis, black with yellow trim and equipped with Salomon 747 bindings. The skis were valued at $300.

Friday, Jan. 26

At 3:36 a.m. two female guests at a Broad St. bed and breakfast reported that an unidentified man had entered their room. The man told them he had the wrong room. The women asked police to find him, but efforts to locate the man were unsuccessful.

Saturday, Jan. 27

At 1:26 a.m. a West Bethel man called police to ask that a female be removed from his residence. A check on the man, Danny Lolar, 31, showed a warrant for failure to pay a fine. He was arrested by police.

Monday, Jan. 29

At 11 a.m. the owner of the Bethel Spa Motel reported that a guest had left to go skiing at Sunday River for the day, and she believed he did not intend to pay his bill. Police contacted Sunday River security, but attempts to stop him were unsuccessful. Police put a "stop and hold" on his vehicle.

"The selectmen hope the people will give her a chance, at least for a year," said Bartlett.

Hoping to start anew

Lavalette is a native of Swanton, Vt., a small town on Lake Champlain near the Canadian border. She graduated from Swanton High School in 1963.

She said that with her children now grown, she and her husband, who is retired, are looking to get back to a more rural area.

"We're looking for a new start. We came up there camping, and we like Maine," she said.

If her job is a go, Lavalette said she would like to "live and pay taxes in Greenwood."

She sees the town manager's job as "doing the legwork for the selectmen. I work very hard every day at this. The challenge is not something that would frighten me."

While she does not have a degree in municipal management, Lavalette feels her experience in [illegible] has prepared her for the town manager job.

reelection could be influenced by whether voters approve the town manager form of government.

But in Andover, selectman Joe Madigan thinks his town can solve the workload problem by simply going to a larger board of selectmen.

Greenwood residents will vote at the March Town Meeting on whether to go forward with the town manager form of government approved last year.

With Bartlett's three-year term up in March, she was asked if the manager issue would affect her decision to be a candidate.

She said if Greenwood goes with a town manager, she would seek reelection to help with the transition to that form of government.

But if voters turn thumbs down on it, her decision "would not be as cut and dried," she said. With a workload she describes as "staggering," Bartlett isn't sure she wants the job again without the support of a manager.

She said the amount of work has doubled since she first took office, much of it coming in the form of increased requirements from the state.

Bartlett has served in the position for 10 years, more than half of that as chair.

More hands make lighter work?

In Andover a committee is studying the feasibility of a town manager form of government there.

Madigan describes the workload as "exorbitant." He also said it's difficult for selectmen to keep up with all the laws.

"A lot of them don't know the laws. They don't have time to go to school. You end up flying by the seat of your pants," he said.

But Madigan thinks the way for Andover to go is a five-man board of selectmen. The town currently has three.

He said it would get more people involved in government and be less expensive than a manager.

"I'd rather see five people on the board -- more people to share the load," he said.

He said there are qualified people in town who would serve, but they are unwilling to vie with their friends and neighbors for the minimal number of seats now available.

He also said long-time residents he has spoken with think the town is too small for a manager.

"It's too much money -- a hard pill to swallow. But they like the idea of an expanded selectmen's board," Madigan said.

The Andover study committee is scheduled to have a report on the town manager issue ready for the annual Town Meeting on March 2.

Brown

On Tuesday morning Brown supporter Harry Faulkner was circulating a petition calling for those positions to be filled instead by election -- as are the positions of selectman, assessor and school board director.

An earlier petition calling for Brown's reinstatement garnered approximately 600 signatures. The new petition would need less than a quarter of that number (126) to be presented to the selectmen.

By 3:15 p.m. Tuesday enough signatures had been collected, and Brown presented the petition at the Town Office. His intent was to have the matter put on the agenda for the selectmen's Feb. 5 meeting.

The selectmen would then have the options of: 1) agreeing to a special town meeting to consider the changes, 2) bringing the matter up at the annual Town Meeting (the petition calls for earlier action), or 3) simply turning the petition down.

If the selectmen did turn down the petition, the petitioners could then seek authorization from the state attorney general to conduct their own Town Meeting. Any votes taken at such a meeting would be binding on the town.

Social agencies will have to petition for funding from Bethel taxpayers

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Social-service agencies seeking funds from Bethel taxpayers will have to go the petition route this year.

The joint committee made up the Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee began its fiscal year 1997 budget review Monday, and made only one formal vote -- a unanimous decision not to submit any recommendations to voters regarding social service funding.

The recommendation came not because the committee members were against funding the agencies, but because the members did not want to be put in the position of choosing which agencies would -- and which would not -- be put on the agenda for Town Meeting.

Following a similar decision last year, four agencies (out of more than a dozen that had initially applied) did successfully petition to be put on the agenda.

At Town Meeting voters granted each of them the full amount of money they had requested.

Committee members were pleased with the way that process worked.

"I like the fact that the legislative body (Town Meeting) makes the decision itself," said Selectman Dutch Dresser.

Pat Dooen, a long-time Budget Committee member, said, "The four we did fund last year have a great impact on the people in our town."

The four agencies that voters funded last year were: Androscoggin Home Health Services ($2,096), the Western Area Agency on Aging ($1,733), Community Concepts ($2,090), and the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Council ($480).

The joint committee is scheduled to meet Thursday, Feb. 8 to hear a report on Bethel fire services.

The committee will then meet again on the second and fourth Mondays of February and March.

Budget meetings are held in the Town Office meeting room, beginning at 7 p.m. They are open to the public.

L.L. Bean X-C ski festival

The Sixth Annual L.L. Bean Cross Country Ski Festival will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 3 and 4, at Gould Academy.

"Our goal is to offer something for everyone, from the novice to the seasoned veteran," said Phil Savignano, L.L. Bean Winter Sports School coordinator.

Participants choose from six workshops: Introduction to Cross Country Skiing, Family Skiing, Intermediate Cross Country Skiing, Backcountry Skiing, Competitive Skiing (Saturday only), and Cross Country Potpourri, for those who want a selection of all programs.

Each workshop provides participants an opportunity to ski and learn with people of the same skill level. Beginners focus on the basics of skiing and gliding, while more seasoned skiers sharpen their techniques, work on climbing hills and learn to skate for speed.

Ski Festival participants will be able to try a variety of ski equipment, from skis and boots to snowshoes and snowboards, available for sale at the L.L. Bean retail store.

In addition to the wide variety of outdoor activities, Ski Festival participants can also attend several indoor workshops that address such topics as waxing skis, eating for peak performance, and dressing properly. Selected short ski films from the New England Ski Museum will also be shown each day.

The Fourth Annual Flying Moose Classic Ski Race will be held on Sunday at 11 a.m. This event, which features classical technique and classes for all skiers from beginning racers and ski tourers to sport-level racers, begins with a mass start at the Bethel Inn. Racers may register at the Gould Academy Field House from 9 to 10:30 the morning of the race, and may choose to ski 5-, 10- or 20-kilometer [illegible]. There is a $20 fee for registration. Prizes will be awarded to the overall male and female winners of each race and to the top three male and female finishers of each division. T-shirts will be given to the first 100 entries.

For more information on the Cross Country Ski Festival or other L.L. Bean Ski School programs, call 1-800-341-4341, extension 6666. For further information about the Flying Moose Classic Race, contact Scott Isaacson at Gould Academy, 1-207-824-2178.

High school varsity boys' basketball

Mt. Abram 72, Telstar 66

Jan. 26--Caesar Morgan had 17 points while Tony Buker and Cory Koch had 14 each in an overtime loss to Mt. Abram. Koch also had six assists. Morgan pulled down seven rebounds.

Gould 57, Averill 46

Jan. 24--Senior forward Lanny Popoola netted 26 points while Adam Vinson added 10 as Gould beat Averill Academy. Gould has won six straight and is now in the running for a Western Maine Class D playoff berth.

Winthrop 94, Telstar 71

Jan. 23--Balanced scoring by Telstar couldn't overcome 57 points scored by Winthrop's T.J. Caoutte. Scorers for the Rebels: Tony Buker, 16; Caesar Morgan, 15; Cory Koch, 9; Heath Poland, 8; Sandon Morgan and Wade Luxton, 7; Jason Mullen, 6; and Keith Stevens, 5.

High school girls' varsity basketball

Jay 63, Telstar 32

Jan. 25--Beth Howe scored 10 points, Erin Osgood seven, and Sarah Richardson six as Telstar defeated by Jay. Coach Ray Seames said the Rebels, who had been bothered by poor shooting in earlier games, got back on track with a 50-percent shooting percentage in the first half. But the Tigers shot 57 percent from the floor for the night.

Telstar 56, Lisbon 48

Jan. 22--Sarah Seames effectively shut down Lisbon's top scorer as the Rebels used a box and one defense in the first half. Offensively, Beth Howe and Sarah Richardson combined numerous opportunities for the fast break with balanced scoring from the field. Howe had 27 points, five rebounds, nine steals, five recoveries, and five assists. Richardson had 16 points, two steals, two recoveries, and six assists. Becky Chandler scored six points, while Jana Mason and Jen Stevens had eight and seven rebounds, respectively. "The Rebels were able to control the game from the beginning with all members of the team contributing to the win," said coach Ray Seames.

High school boys' J.V. basketball

Gould 49, Waynflete 24

Jan. 24--Gould's J.V. boys kept their streak intact, beating Waynflete School in Portland. Junior Ki-Won Choi scored the game-high 17 points, with Jackie Chow adding 11.

Gould 46, Pine Tree 34

Jan. 22--After being down 18-4 at one point in the first half Gould made a comeback and beat Pine Tree Academy on the road. Gould outscored Pine Tree 32-11 in the second half. Forward Ki-Won Choi led Gould with 18 points.

Middle school girls' J.V. basketball

Mountain Valley 31, Telstar 18

Jan. 25--Heather Jordan had seven points and Mariah Seames five in a loss to Mountain Valley. "We played well, but Mountain Valley didn't miss many shots," said coach Mike Thompson.

Telstar 27, Mountain Valley 26

Jan. 23--Mariah Seames had 17 points, Amanda Miclon six, and Lynsey Brown four as Telstar defeated Mountain Valley. Seames, Miclon and Brown also had 10, seven and four steals, and seven, four and three rebounds, respectively. "Amanda Miclon was ice from the foul line with eight seconds left in overtime. She made both of her shots to lead her team to victory. The girls were losing by four points with two and one-half minutes left in the game, and came back to tie it up and win in overtime," said coach Mike Thompson.

Maranacook 51, Telstar 20

Jan. 22--Mariah Seames had 12 points and Heather Jordan four in a loss to Maranacook. Amanda Miclon had five steals and Renee Royer five rebounds.

ATTACKING THE COURSE--Telstar's Chris Vaughan flattens a gate pole on his way to winning a slalom race at Sunday River last week. Kurt Thurston and Adam Newell finished second and third, respectively, as the Rebel boys' team defeated the Mountain Valley Falcons. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

The new dump stickers are now available at the town office. There will be two stickers given out to each household.

The AES is planning a Family Fun Skating Night on Feb. 2 beginning at 5 p.m. at the town skating rink behind the fire station. They will have a bonfire, roast hot dogs, drink hot cocoa and have a great time skating and socializing. To encourage full family participation, the APT will be giving away three door prizes in random drawings of which any full family that participates in the skating night will be eligible to enter. The APT is requesting that each child who attends does so in the presence of an adult who is accountable for him/her. If the weather is inclement the event will be postponed and a new date will be announced.

Many thanks to the volunteers who donated and installed the new spotlight which illuminates the skating area behind the fire station.

The Snow Valley Sno Goers will hold their next meeting on Saturday, Feb. 3 at 7 p.m. at the fire station. Plans are underway for the Poker Run to be held on Feb. 10.

The area Brownies and Girl Scout troops will be selling their delicious cookies for several more weeks. Contact Sue at 392-4691 or 392-4581 to arrange for a girl to stop by with an order form. The cookies will be delivered in March.

Congratulations to Michael Sabin, a sixth-grader at AES, for capturing the second quarter Spelling Bee title, Mahala Thibodeau, grade four, was the runner-up in both the first and second quarter spelling bees.

Congratulations to Ben Sabin, a sixth-grader at AES, for winning the school level competition of the National Geography Bee. Up to 100 of the top scorers in each state and territory will be eligible to compete in the state bees which will be held on March 29.

SPC E4 David Foster, son of Agnes and John Foster, began his army career at Fort Jackson, S.C. on Jan. 2. David is a 1994 graduate of the Univ. of Maine in Orono with a bachelor's degree in economics. Following his basic training he will begin studies at Fort Lee, Va.

Kevin Merrill, son of Carolyn and Richard Merrill, was recently home for a week's visit with family and friends. Kevin's employment relocated him from North Dakota to Michigan.

Jeremy Sterling of Rumford Point was a weekend guest of his great-grandmother, Mrs. Grace Simmons.

Get well wishes to Orville Meisner who recently fell and broke his arm. Also, get well wishes to Dottie Jean Mills who is at home recovering from recent surgery.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet at the Town Annex on Thursday, Feb. 1. This is a potluck dinner, so please bring a dish to pass (hot dish, salad or dessert) plus your own place setting. The program will be Linda Haegele from Community Concepts.

Judith Grover Tent 17, D.U.V. will meet Tuesday, Feb. 13 for a 6 p.m. supper and installation of officers. An exchange of valentines will be held.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt visited their dad, Jim Hoyt, over the weekend.

Curator Larry Billings has given the Historical Society a painting of a lighthouse. The society does its best for the community and area. The curator has been reading some poetry by the recent winner of the Nobel Prize for literature.

East Bethel

by
Nancy Mercer

Jean Grover has a new grandson, Charles James, born to Jim and Dawn Grover on Jan. 11. His other grandparents are Bill and Joan Roberts.

Peggy Coolidge, Ruth Bethel and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Twitchell attended the Bethel Senior Citizens group on Jan. 10 at the Methodist Church.

Florence Hastings returned home from her trip to Florida on Jan. 23. She went with Mary Alice Bancroft of Paris Hill and Ginny Gamble of Hanover, N.H. They had a difficult time getting there; the plane was held up for deicing in Cincinnati, Ohio for some time.

Sonny and Bettyann Hastings held a reception at the Bethel Inn for Scott and Ellen Franklin recently. Scott had never seen so much snow before, as he grew up in Texas where they now live.

On Jan. 20, East Bethel was the main travel route to get to Sunday River. Traffic was heavy all day with MaineLine buses, school buses and private vehicles going by.

East Stoneham

by
Eleanor Nelson

On Sunday, Nancy Rogers from Connecticut and son Gary Rogers and two children, Timothy and Christina, called on Frances Grant.

The Daughters of Veterans, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 meeting was canceled today due to the stormy day and was rescheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21, 7 p.m. at the church vestry. The officers' installation will take place then.

On Saturday, Feb. 19, the Stoneham Knight Riders Snowmobile Club will put on a baked bean, ham, chop suey, hot rolls, pies, etc., public supper at the Kezar Lake Grange Hall at North Lovell from 5 to 7 p.m. Cost of the meal will be $6 for adults and $3 for kids under 12. All are welcome.

We were saddened to learn of the death of Alton Rich of North Waterford. Our sympathy goes out to his family and many, many friends. He will be very much missed.

Dr. Terry Michols has reported that she is going to set up a Rabies Clinic at the Stoneham Fire Station on Saturday, Feb. 10, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Also, Mary Clark, town clerk, will be on hand for registrations of dogs at that time.

I hope I have made sense this week, as I ran out of typewriter ribbon for the word processor and had to go back to the other typewriter. The ribbons use up terribly fast and Ames didn't have any the other day.

Mike Cummings remains in the Bridgton hospital. Hope you'll be better and home soon, Mike.

South Woodstock

by
Andrea Wing

June Demarest has returned from the hospital where she had surgery recently. I haven't spoken to her but a friend of hers told me she seems to be coming along well and feels much better.

Joe Pete Appleby and grandson Joshua have been doing a lot of ice fishing when the weather permits. Joe Pete caught a 10-inch cusk and Joshua caught a 21-inch-one. Joshua likes competing with his grandfather. Joe Pete and Laurene stopped by last Friday evening for awhile. It's always good to have them visit.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of one of South Woodstock's former residents this past week. Brian Buck, who lived in New Jersey, passed away from liver failure. Brian was only 38 years old. He was the son of the late Hollis Buck and grandson of Vera Buck. Dale Buck, Wm Buck, and Stuart Buck are brothers of Brian. I don't know much about Brian but understand he is married and has children. I remember him as a small child when he was in school with my children. He will be missed by all who knew him.

James Andrews, Esq., has joined the team of attorneys of Kurtz and Hanley in South Paris. James is the son of Arden and Beverly Andrews from this area.

I see Jamie Monzo received an award for excellent work in school in the seventh grade at Oxford Hills. Congratulations, Jamie!

Last week while grocery shopping at Shop 'n Save in Oxford I had a chance to visit for a short while with Etta Immonen and also with Beverly Bailey. It seems I never get to see them except in the grocery store.

Larry Billings, curator for Woodstock Historical Society reports that at the January meeting of the society a film was shown on the state of Maine. Curator Larry Billings pointed out recent additions to the museum's art collection. Earle Noyes read an essay from Ruby Emery. Members discussed some financial matters. Mr. Billings has given a print of the ship Constitution to the society. He has also given a large picture of a boy fishing and a print of some musical instruments to add to the art collection at the museum.

I heard by the grapevine that Larry Billings recently celebrated his birthday. Happy Birthday, Larry.

I'm counting the days til spring. It's been a hard winter for everyone in this area and also other parts of the country.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that you should think big thoughts but relish small pleasures."

The rain we have had lately is certainly making the snow disappear. The fields behind my house are mostly bare now.

Callers on Emma Billings this week have been Connie Hammond and Phyllis Lowe.

Lloyd Davis has been getting Emma's wood in for her.

Kara Jacques visited with Joelle and Errol Silver over the weekend.

Mac and Tammy Billings took Shane Billings back to the University of Hartford on Sunday. The traveling was bad on the way home and Mac said there were several accidents along the way.

Linda Tyler was in Pinhook for her weekly visit on Tuesday.

Louise Chapman baby-sat for Joelle and Errol Silver on Saturday.

There isn't much to write about except snow and rain and what will the weather be tomorrow.

There are birds here -- juncoes, redpolls, grosbeaks, tufted titmice, doves, blue jays -- feeding around the house. Today a friend told me about being visited by an owl and an undesirable starlke.

I have read that Columbus reported to King Ferdinand that, among the islands of the Caribbean he found himself surrounded by "birds of a thousand sorts." Sometimes on a New England farm toward spring we experience a similar impression. Well, it's not quite spring but we are nearer than we were in September.

The Whippoorwill is one that I miss. When I was a child they were always near the house. But since I have lived here I have heard but one and that was not for certain.

It will be bird singing time before too long. That reminds me of an amusing incident that I saw last spring. Carrying a larger feather than usual, more than five inches long, a tree swallow flew toward a birdhouse. It had the feather crosswise in it's bill, and tried to make it through the inch and a half hole in diameter. It circled and dropped the feather. It tried again and again. It never overcame the difficulty and finally abandoned the feather.

However, the tiny brain of a house wren knows a solution to the problem.

I have watched this tiny bird fly with speed clutching a long twig in its slender bill. At the last second without a pause it jerks its head and turns the twig, then passes through the hole with ease.

It would be nice to see one tonight but instead there is wind and rain.

On Tuesday Dot Betts and I met with other teachers for lunch and then visited together at Louvie Coffin's home.

Laurene French of South Paris visited one afternoon.

Some of the children of Rena Curtis visited her on the weekend.

I hear by the grapevine that there are some people threatening revolt if I don't get a column in pretty soon. I'm sure that is a mite exaggerated, especially since no one has been beating down my door to get any news items to me. However, I suppose an explanation is in order for those who have not heard about Ralph's and my extraordinary trip to Presque Isle last month. Usually Marcia travels and comes here, but it had been a long time since we had gone to visit her, in fact we had not even been to her new house, so we decided this year for Christmas we'd go there. So the day after Christmas we set out. I had checked three weather reports, all said fair and indeed it was as we set out. We took our time and got a look at some of the towns along the way. So it was rather late as we picked up the interstate in Newport. It was not long before it began to snow, and by the time we were part way up it began to look like a blizzard.

We had taken my car because I had had it checked and had new tires and new battery, amongst other things, and because I had Triple A. It also was four years younger than Ralph's.

To make a long story shorter, by the time we were outside Lincoln we began to have trouble with it. We stopped there to call Marcia and then proceeded on. Forty miles from Houlton it completely died. So here we are, in the middle of a blizzard with a car that will not run.

I will not bore you with the details, but we found ourselves crammed four wide into the front seat of a wrecker -- well, actually three wide. I had to sit on Ralph's lap. I'm sure his legs will never by the same, and since I couldn't sit upright neither will my neck. We were left off at a truck stop in Houlton, still 40 miles from Presque Isle.

The next few hours were a jumble of phone calls, cold, snow, and wind as we endeavored to keep an eye on the car and out of the wind. My son-in-law was working and had the car and he couldn't leave right off, but eventually he did come and get us.

We spent the next day trying to get someone to look at the car and found when we did that the motor had blown. I ended up having to have the car towed to a junkyard where the owner cheerfully gave me $50 and took away my brand new tires, battery, etc. Then it was more phone calls to find a way home. We tried rental agencies but the price on a one-way rental was out of sight. If we went by bus we'd have to leave all our stuff behind (it may be wise to travel light). Bless Marcia's friend Candie for being willing, if we could stay one more day, to take us to Bangor. Bless Debbie Brown for being willing to go to Bangor for us, and bless Owen for being willing for her to go. So all in all we had a good trip back, even stopped in Canaan to look at some aquarium fish. The dogs were no doubt not happy to spend an extra day at the kennels, but we were glad to have a chance to catch our breath and visit.

In spite of everything I enjoyed the visit. I like Presque Isle for one thing and to spend some time with Jon and Marcia was great. They have a lovely home, too. The only one that was not happy was Marcia's cat, Jasper, who spent most of his time watching me with an eagle eye. He hasn't forgotten the two years he had to spend with me and then the long ride in "the box." I am sure he thought I had come for him. Marcia says he's just beginning to relax. Ralph says the only way I'll get him back to Presque Isle is put him in "the box." He may be joking, I'm not sure.

Anyhow, I am now home, with no car, and that is why there has been no news, because for once I'm not making any and I don't have much of a way to get it to Bethel if I did. Actually, that's not quite true as people look out for me pretty good. Maybe it's just been an excuse to be lazy, since I'm just as lazy as I dare to be. Now for a few items that have been hanging fire since that fateful trip.

Vera Cross has been in the hospital twice -- once over Christmas with a kidney stone and just lately as the doctor tries to regulate her heart beat. I hope, as I'm sure do all of you, that she gets to feeling better soon.

Debbie Brown graduated from barber school, but has yet to find a job in the field. She plans to open her own shop at her house when she gets her license. The state only holds two licensing boards, one in December and another in June. It was very frustrating for her that she had less than two weeks to go, back in December, but they wouldn't let her take the exam. They've got more rules and regulations for barbers than they do for daycare centers. It's ridiculous.

I've been having a cold along with everyone else. In fact, Owen missed a couple days of work this week. It's not usual for him to get sick or if he does he doesn't let on. The Browns took me out for brunch after church Sunday, which was nice.

I also was able to get to the January singles' get-together at Wanda Hutchinson's. It took three families to get me there and back, the Browns to get me to church, Albert and Thelma Judkins to get me to Wanda's and Dana Meisner to get me home! The women of the group had a potluck while the men took the boys to an all-you-can-eat, fix-it-your-own-way restaurant. I guess the boys came up with quite the concoctions. Those present were Wanda, myself, Linda Ruffin and Tina Philbrick, (and Wanda's Beth), Al Larsen, Dana Meisner and youngsters, John Bell, James and Rusty Ruffin, and Donald and Ray Hutchinson.

The potluck supper and contra dance sponsored by the Recreation Committee will be held this weekend at the Newry Grange Hall. The supper starts at 5:30 p.m. Drinks and rolls are provided by the committee. Dancing begins at 7 p.m. with music and calling by the Peppercorns. Bring a potluck dish to share for dinner and comfortable, soft-soled shoes for dancing and have a good time! Should be fun.

George Burns celebrated his 100th birthday last Saturday. I still have eight years to go for mine. Will I make it?? "Good old age. Few people know how to be old. It is difficult to grow old gracefully. Age is a matter of feelings, not years; a healthy old person who is not a fool is the happiest creature living." Amen.

Happy Birthday to Paula Toti in Pascoag, R.I. "Wishing you the best today and always. Expect the unexpected in the next two years."

The Windy Valleys Sno-mobile Club will meet Feb. 6, 6 p.m. at the Town Building.

The auction is on. Who will pay most for the Presidency? Get your money ready. Never mind brains, compassion, tolerance, open mind, common sense, guts, health. Money talks. I for one will not run. I don't have the money.

"Briefly" -- "Balance the budget, come hell (snow) or high water"?

Five snowmobile deaths so far this year? Alcohol, snow and speed don't mix. Get smart you guys, you are giving the rest of us a bad reputation.

No bowling again this week, bad weather.

Remember the potluck supper and dance Saturday, Feb. 3, 5:30 p.m. at the Grange Hall. Come dance with me!

Howdy, friends. How nice it seems to have weather that is a little milder.

On Saturday, Hope and Faith Lovejoy joined the Haverinen family and all went to L.L. Bean's for some shopping. The girls all received gift certificates for Christmas and they seemed to be burning holes in their pockets.

There will be dances at West Paris Grange Hall on Feb. 3 and Feb. 10, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. This is good olden-days music, and at intermission you can get a wide variety of goodies including some very good homemade pies which are cut in generous pieces.

Oxford Pomona Grange will meet at Oxford Grange Hall on Feb. 6. There will be a supper preceding the meeting, and outside Grangers are to bring the desserts.

Last Monday, I got to thinking that I'd better be getting some of the roofs cleared of snow, as they were heavy laden with snow and rain might cause them to collapse.

Monday evening, we attended the potluck supper and meeting at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond. We had several visitors from other Granges, and it was a fun meeting with lots of laughs. I have heard that laughing is one of the best medicines for mankind. We all enjoyed the delicious potluck supper and the meeting that followed.

Tuesday afternoon, Peggy went to West Paris to pick up Audrey Hadley and Leland Doughty and then we all attended the funeral for Katie Tamminen at the funeral home on Main Street in Norway. The beautiful spray of flowers from West Paris Grange was done by Sharon Silver of Bryant Pond.

As the weather predictions for Friday didn't sound very good, Peggy and I did our weekly grocery shopping on Thursday.

When it started to rain on Friday afternoon, I was glad that Peggy and I had persevered and had all of our roofs free of snow. I was worried about some places on High Street where the snow hadn't been removed from the roofs.

Richard Felt called on us Friday forenoon and stayed for dinner. We always enjoy listening to some of his stories. He is quite a historian, too. The temperature on Friday got up almost to 50 degrees here, real spring-like. It rained much of Friday night, and when we got up Saturday morning the snow banks were much lower and areas where snow had been cleared away were all bare.

Peggy and Doc Merrill attended the dance at West Paris Grange Hall Saturday evening. There was a real good turnout at the dance, as they sold 73 tickets and there were four people who came on free tickets that they had won previously. The spring-like weather apparently gave them an incentive to get out and go to the dance.

Sunday afternoon, we went down to the new Veteran's Home on High Street to listen to the Richard Felt Orchestra, as they were playing for the enjoyment of the patients.

February Almanack Quiz

By NATALIE TIMBERLAKE

As promised, with the arrival of the last Wednesday of the month, the February, 1796 page from the Rev. Daniel Gould's "Pocket Almanack, 1796" appears, and with it another quiz based on the page:

1. "Quinquagesi" is from what language, and what is its translation?
2. What do you think S.J.C. Boston means?
3. What is the meaning of the phrase "Sun flow of clock 13m. 5 s."?
4. Is Venus in her "evening" or "morning" star mode in this month?
5. "M" appears at the head of the first column. What does it mean?
6. "W" appears at the head of the second column. What does it stand for?
7. How do you read the "C" as it appears in the second column?
8. What information is in the last three columns?
9. What time did the sun rise on Feb. 14? Compare with 1996.

This monthly project to keep our Town of Bethel in touch with life in its year of incorporation is an activity of the Education Group of the Bethel Bicentennial Committee.

WALK AGAINST VIOLENCE

The Abused Women's Advocacy Project is sponsoring its annual "Winter Walk Against Violence," to be held inside the Auburn Mall on Saturday, Feb. 10, from 8 to 10 a.m. All profits from the walk will go directly to help shelter women and children at the project's emergency shelter in Auburn and support services in Rumford, Norway, Farmington and Lewiston.

Reports of domestic violence continue to increase in Androscoggin, Franklin and Oxford counties. Many more victims are asking for help, in part because of increased awareness of the issue.

Pledge papers and more information is available by calling 784-3995. Walkers with $60 in pledge money will receive an A.W.A.P. t-shirt, those with $120 in pledge money will receive an A.W.A.P. sweatshirt.

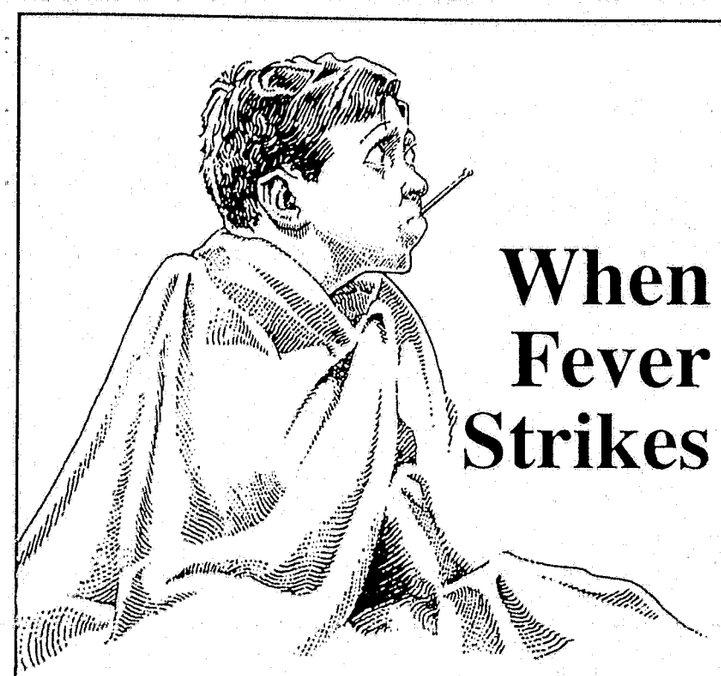
HEALTHY LIVING



When Fever Strikes

By Loretta Rudloff, M.D., Pediatrician, Mountain Health Services, Berlin

One of the most disheartening parental concerns is when a child develops a fever. It can scare a parent half to death. As with most symptoms, that parental fear may or may not be justified. The purpose of this article is to shed some light on this common problem.

What is a fever?

A fever is one of the body's defense mechanisms to combat infection. It is the body's attempt to create an unfriendly turf for germs. The body does this by a thermostat in the brain. This "natural thermostat" is usually set at 98.6 degrees F., or 37 degrees C. When germs invade the body, the thermostat resets to a higher level. Fever results, and by definition, is 100.4 degrees F. or 38 degrees, C., or higher.

When should you worry about it?

The body's temperature can normally fluctuate during the day. Mild elevation can be caused by exercise, excessive clothing, a hot bath, or hot weather. Most fevers associated with being ill range between 101 and 104 degrees F and last from 2 to 3 days. However, how high the fever is doesn't always relate to how serious the illness is. How sick your child acts is what is important. Fever won't cause permanent damage until it is over 107 degrees F. The brain's thermostat usually keeps it lower than that.

What is the best method for taking my child's temperature?

Ideally, the best way to take a temperature of a child under one year of age is rectally. It is the most accurate approach for this age group where precision is of the utmost importance. "Under the arm" temperatures are less exact. Oral temperatures can be obtained when the child is older than 5 years, depending upon cooperation. The new ear thermometers offer a less invasive option and can be used in children over two months of age.

When does a fever warrant a doctor's visit?

Any child less than two months of age who develops a fever needs an examination. Infants in this age range do not localize infection very well and, of course, cannot tell you where the problem is. Therefore, they need a thorough evaluation as soon as possible to rule out any life-threatening emergency. Children older than two months should be seen when convenient to determine if there is any clinical evidence of infection. Sometimes, however, it may take several days before a source of fever reveals itself. Lastly, any fever lasting more than five days needs to be evaluated

What is the best way to treat a fever?

If a child is less than two months of age, do not give anything. Call your physician. If the child is older and appears comfortable, treatment is not always necessary. Remember, this is the body's defense to combat infection. Yet, if the child is fussy, treatment may be indicated.

When treating a fever, think of being in a hot room. There are two ways you can make it cooler. You can open a window or door. This is equivalent to giving your feverish child tepid baths or cool sponges. However, when the window or door is closed, the room once again becomes warm. Similarly, once the child is taken from the bath the fever once again rises. Another way to cool off is to adjust the thermostat. Here is where drugs come in. You may use acetaminophen (Tylenol, Tempra, Panadol) or ibuprofen (Children's Motrin or Advil). The effects are more rapid and prolonged, a more desirable result when dealing with fever. Be sure to read the package inserts or consult your physician for proper dosing. And never use aspirin.

Encourage your child to drink plenty of fluids. This replaces body fluids lost from sweating.

What about fever seizures?

Occasionally, a child will develop a seizure when the fever starts or when it breaks. The majority of these are not serious. They will have no long term effect on the child. Nonetheless, they are truly frightening to witness. If this occurs, make sure the child is placed in a clear area where he or she cannot be injured. Time the seizure and call the doctor. Recommendations may vary depending on the specific scenario.

In summary, fever is a common childhood entity; yet, at times, it can leave a caretaker feeling helpless. Remember, it is one of the body's natural defenses against disease. As mentioned, there are times when fever heralds emergent action. However, for the majority of cases, it can be systematically addressed and well controlled with simple measures. Just keep a cool head.

News From The Bethel Area Health Center

Everyone enjoys a good belly laugh - certainly it makes us feel good and that good feeling can stay with us for quite some time. The benefits of laughter are not only emotional... laughter can really be the best medicine. According to Dr. William Fry laughter stimulates certain hormones that release endorphins in the brain. Many people are familiar with the effects of endorphins from routine exercise, the dulling of the perception of pain and an increased sense of relaxation and well-being. There is also some preliminary evidence that laughter enhances the immune response, speeds healing, reduces inflamation and stimulates alertness. Laughing physiological and psychological effects can be described as "internal jogging", a kind of sedentary aerobic exercise.

It's now 1996 and time to find the humor in life. Try to avoid sarcasm and ridicule and concentrate on esteem-building humor as opposed to quips that are degrading or demeaning to others. Share a good joke with your family members or co-workers. Start an internal jogging schedule to keep in good shape!

The Sixth Annual Women's Health Conference is scheduled for March 30, 1996. The Conference will be held at the Crescent Park School in Bethel and offer a variety of workshops throughout the day. The Conference is sponsored by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and the Bethel Area Health Center, who will again be offering a special and rewarding day for women. Mark March 30th off on your calendars now!

The Health Center is offering Childbirth education classes beginning in April '96. We would consider offering a summer course as well with community request. Please call the Health Center as soon as possible to register your request for spring or summer classes.

Health Care Program Earns National Praise

News USA

(NU) - Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children may not be the world's best-known philanthropy, but when it comes to helping children, it's one of the best.

The American Hospital Association is the latest voice to speak out in praise of the Shriners' 22-hospital system. AHA recently awarded Shriners Hospitals its 1995 Nova Award, one of only five awarded this year.

The Nova Award recognizes collaborative projects in hospitals and health systems working toward AHA's vision of a restructured health care delivery system and community-centered care.

Shriners Hospitals was recognized for its CHOICES program (Children's Healthcare Options Improved Through Collaborative Efforts and Services), which is designed to improve health care for children with special needs.

For more than seven decades, the Shriners Hospitals system has provided free orthopaedic and burn-treatment care to children across North America. CHOICES represents the hospitals' commitment to find health care resources for children whose needs go beyond what Shriners Hospitals can provide.

Through public-private partnerships between Shriners Hospitals and state government agencies in 10 states, CHOICES seeks to coordinate care, referrals and exchange of information among various health care providers.

YOUR BABY'S HEALTH

Germ-Fighting Tips For New Parents

(NU) - As a new parent, you'll go out of your way to provide the best possible care for your baby. That includes taking extra precautions, like washing your hands frequently, that may reduce your child's exposure to the germs that cause illness or infection. Here's some advice to help keep your little one healthy and happy.

Health experts recommend hand washing as a simple and effective way to help fight the spread of germs. To help keep germs off the skin's surface after washing, be sure to use an antibacterial soap. A good one to try is Softsoap Antibacterial With Light Moisturizers, which not only kills germs as you wash, but keeps protecting you for up to two hours after washing. And, its mild formula contains gentle moisturizers and skin conditioners to leave skin feeling soft and smooth.

Anyone who cares for a child should wash their hands often. Follow these tips to reduce the risk of picking up and passing on germs:

- Wash hands with an antibacterial soap before and after feeding, changing and bathing your child.
- Remember to wash hands after using public telephones or bathrooms, taking public transportation, and contact with pets.
- Toys get dirty too, so use soap and water to wash toys that have been outside or on the floor.
- Since bacteria grow and thrive in warm, moist places, towels and linens should be washed frequently.
- Wash hands with an antibacterial soap like Softsoap Antibacterial Soap for Sensitive Skin after caring for sick children, sneezing or blowing your nose.
- Use disposable tissues instead of handkerchiefs and make sure to throw them out right away.

Unfortunately, there is no way to eliminate all childhood illnesses. To help avoid serious infections, make sure that your child visits the doctor regularly and receives the immunizations recommended by your pediatrician.

Help Your Heart Recipes

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan. Total fat intake should be less than 30 percent of your total calories for a day — not for each food or recipe.

Braised Sirloin Tips

¼	teaspoon freshly ground black pepper	2	cloves garlic, finely minced
½	teaspoon unseasoned meat tenderizer	½	cup finely chopped onion
2	pounds beef sirloin tips all visible fat removed, cut into cubes and drained on paper towel	1½	cup low-sodium beef broth
		¾	cup dry red wine
		1	tablespoon light soy sauce
		2	tablespoons cornstarch
		¼	cup cold water
		¼	cup minced fresh parsley

Place large, nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Sprinkle pepper and meat tenderizer on meat. Brown meat on all sides, turning often, until well browned. Add garlic and onions and cook until onions are translucent.

Add broth, wine and soy sauce. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 1½ hours, or until meat is tender.

In a small bowl, blend cornstarch and water until smooth. Slowly pour mixture into skillet, stirring constantly. Continue to cook and stir until gravy thickens. Sprinkle parsley on top. Serve with rice if desired. Serves 8

Howe - Hanscom

Nancy E. Howe of Albany is pleased to announce the engagement of her daughter, Amy Lynn, to David Thomas Hanscom, son of David J. Hanscom of West Bethel and the late Christine G. Hanscom.

Miss Howe graduated from Telstar Regional High School in June 1995 and is attending Castleton State College in Vermont.

Mr. Hanscom graduated from Telstar Regional High School in June 1992, from Southern Maine Technical College in May 1994 and from the University of Southern Maine in December of 1995.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Obituaries

NORMAN F. FORD

Norman F. Ford, 90, formerly of Bethel and Rollingsford, N.H., died Wednesday, Jan. 24, 1996, at Norway Convalescent Center, where he had been a patient for 16 months.

Born at Sumner, Feb. 19, 1905, son of Madison F. and Mary E. Thompson Ford, he attended Hartford schools.

A truck driver by vocation, Mr. Ford had been associated with several trucking firms in the Oxford Hills area, among them, J.B. Chapman of Bethel, Wilners of Norway and Sanborn's Express.

He had established his residence at Rollingsford, N.H., for over 25 years, and was employed by Rollingsford Shoe, from which he retired.

After the death of his wife, the former Elizabeth McKenzie, Mr. Ford reestablished his residence at Bethel, on the Annis Road, with his daughter, Mary Dooen, until illness forced him to enter the nursing home.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Gayland (Mary) Dooen of Bethel; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Alfred (Nancy) Weedon of Dover, N.H.; one stepson, Lawrence Hutchinson of Rollingsford, N.H.; one brother, Harold of Fort Fairfield; 11 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by a daughter, Norma Lawson in 1992, a sister, Hazel Field; a brother, Reginald; and a stepson, Harold P. Connor.

Funeral services were held Saturday, Jan. 27, at the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Bethel. Interment will be in Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel, in the spring. Friends who wish may make contributions in Norm's memory to either: Androscoggin Home Health, Strawberry Avenue, Lewiston, ME 04240, or Norway Convalescent Center, Activity Fund, Marion Avenue, Norway, ME 04268.

MARTHA B. VON ZINTL

Martha Brown Von Zintl, 82, of Bethel, widow of William Von Zintl, died Thursday, Jan. 25, 1996, at Market Square Health Care Center, Norway, where she had been a patient for the past several weeks.

Mrs. Von Zintl was born in Bethel on July 6, 1913, daughter of the late Euberto (Burt) and Mary Kimball Brown. She attended schools in Bethel and graduated from Gould Academy in 1933. She also attended Gray's Business College in Portland.

She married William Von Zintl in 1934 and together they worked, for several years, during summers at the Mt. View House in Whitefield, N.H., and winters at the Soreno Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla.

During World War II, while her husband was serving in the U.S. Army, Martha worked at the South Portland shipyard and the Railway Express Company in Portland. After the war she worked at the New Ocean House in Swampscott, Mass. In 1945, the Von Zintls opened the popular Roadside Grille (later called Martha's) on lower Main Street, Bethel, and operated it for 26 years. During the couple's retirement years they spent many winters in Largo, Fla., and traveled extensively until ill health kept them nearer home.

Mrs. Von Zintl was a member of the First Parish Congregational Church and Purity Chapter 102, O.E.S.

Survivors include a sister, Beatrice Grover of Bethel, and several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Von Zintl was pre-deceased by three brothers, Gilbert, Gardiner, and Richard Brown.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Jan. 28, at the West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel. Interment will be in Riverside Cemetery, Bethel, in the spring. In lieu of flowers donations may be made to B.E.A.R.S., P.O. Box 108, Bethel, ME 04217, or American Heart Association, Box 346, 20 Winter Street, Augusta, ME 04330.

FRED A. CLOUGH JR.

Fred A. Clough Jr., 78, of Melbourne, Fla., former Bethel and Manchester resident, died Friday, Jan. 26, 1996, at his residence.

Mr. Clough was born in Lewiston. He moved to Florida in 1979 from Manchester. He worked in public relations in the paper industry.

Mr. Clough was an Original Accredited member of the Public Relations Society of America, University Club of Washington, D.C., College Club at Bates College, and Princeton Club in New York City.

Surviving are his wife, Josephine Clough of Melbourne, Fla.; four sons, Fred A. Clough, III of Rockland, Jeffery J. Clough of Melbourne, Fla., Scott P. Clough of Lewiston, and David J. Clough of Japan; one daughter, Kathleen E. Clough of Brunswick; four grandchildren; one brother, Philip Clough of Brunswick; and one sister, Ruth Mendall of Augusta.

Memorial services will be held Feb. 3, 3 p.m., at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Augusta. Interment will be in Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery on Monday, Feb. 5 at 11 a.m. Donations in his memory may be made to a charity of one's choice.

MARK POOL SMITH

Mark Pool Smith, 88, died Sunday, Jan. 28, 1996, at his residence on Heath Road, Casco.

Mr. Smith was born in Norway on Jan. 2, 1980, son of Lee Mixer and Harriet (Scribner) Smith. He graduated from Norway High School in 1925. His great uncle, Mark Pool Smith, resided in the house that is now occupied by the Norway Historical Society. His father operated a men's clothing store on Main Street, Norway, for many years.

He worked in South Portland as a rigger building Liberty ships during WW-II. After the war he was a heavy equipment operator building pipelines in several regions of the country. He retired from this occupation in 1961 and returned to Maine. He was an active member of the Casco Village Church and was also very active and a founder of the Thompson Lake Environmental Association.

He was married in April 1928 to the late Doris Ida Jordan.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Nancy) Bayer of Gilead; a son, Ronald Lee Smith of Gilead; a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Lee Magill of Oxford; a brother, Howard Daniel Smith of Norway; four grandsons; and four great-grandchildren. He was pre-deceased by two sisters, Marion Matthews and Ruth Witham.

Memorial services will be held Feb. 5, 2 p.m., at the Casco Village Church, Casco, with the Rev. Charles Bidoff officiating. Interment will be in West Bethel Cemetery in the spring. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in his memory to the Casco Village Church, Casco, ME 04015.
